

A scenic view of a Burgundian town. On the left, a large stone castle with a conical roof sits atop a steep, rocky cliff. The town itself is built on a hillside, with numerous houses featuring red-tiled roofs and light-colored walls. In the background, a prominent church with multiple spires rises above the rooftops. A river flows through the foreground, reflecting the town and the sky. A stone bridge is visible in the middle ground, crossing the river. The sky is blue with scattered white clouds.

Joseph of Arimathea, the Bethany Family, Lazarus, Mary Magdalene, Martha, Martha's maid Martillam, and several others were cast adrift in a ship from the coast of the Holy Land, at Caesarea by persecuting Jews, so that they would perish at sea. The vessel was without sails, oars, rudder, helm or supplies.
